The 2016 Vintage Port is mostly Touriga Nacional, with the rest comprised of Touriga Franca and Tinto Cao, aged for 20 months in neutral tonels. Aromatic and enticing from the first smell, laced with eucalyptus, herbs and dried blue fruits, it opens tight and then evolves beautifully, developing expressive fruit and flavor. This is elegant as well, with a fresh feel. I'm very impressed with this bottling, perhaps the best Romaneira Vintage Port I've seen. If it continues to evolve well, it should be a sleeper of the vintage.
