• Facilities Update: 2017 Bond Projects and Cultural Facilities Program (CFP)
Updated on the Working Group

- The City Council approved not removing any of the Confederate imagery at the park, but rather recontextualizing these so that visitors see them in a full context

- Fair Park Recontextualization:
  - Hosted a series of public meetings and received online input from March to May 2019
  - Preliminary scope of work for additional interpretation with seven key themes/"stories" that need contextualization and interpretation:
    - Native American land and origins in the area
    - Confederate imagery at Fair Park
    - The Hall of Negro Life and the 1936 Centennial
    - Segregation Era Events
    - Integration of the State Fair of Texas (including but not limited to Mrs. Juanita Craft’s leadership)
    - Impact of expansion of the Fair on surrounding areas
    - Latinx cultural history at the Fair

- Next step: This project was not funded, and so OAC will be working with Fair Park First to identify resources to fund and support this plan and scope of work

- Working Group scope of work includes:
  - New signage at Fair Park to tell the full history of the Park and contextualize the images of the Confederacy found there
  - Initiating a public art commission to memorialize the victims of racial violence in Dallas
  - Preparing and submitting our application to the Equal Justice Initiative (EJI) in Montgomery, AL, to place historic markers at the sites of two Dallas County lynchings that are documented as having occurred during their period of focus (1877-1950) and to claim our Dallas County Memorial for permanent public display and acknowledgement
Update on the Working Group – Fair Park

- The City Council approved not removing any of the Confederate imagery at the park, but rather recontextualizing these so that visitors see them in a full context

Update on the Working Group – EJI

• The Mayor’s Task Force and City Council did not mandate any actions related to the Equal Justice Initiative (EJI)
  • The National Memorial for Peace and Justice in Montgomery, AL, opened in April 2018
  • EJI only began accepting applications in 2019 for the Monument process

• The Working Group and OAC staff elected to pursue this project and have worked with stakeholder groups to prepare our application for submission by the end of November

• Next Step: Public meetings hosted with partner Remembering Black Dallas in November
Update on the Working Group – Memorial to Victims of Racial Violence

- The Mayor’s Task Force and City Council originally focused on Allen Brooks in their direction for a memorial. Based on much more research, the Working Group expanded this focus to recognizing a much larger list of victims.

- Five possible sites for the Memorial were evaluated.

- On September 24, 2019, the Working Group recommended that the public artwork be located at Martyr’s Park (265 Commerce Street).

- On October 1, 2019, the Public Art Committee recommended the initiation of the project, a memorial for victims of racial violence.

- Seeking vote to recommend for Martyr’s Park from Arts and Culture Advisory Commission.

- Next steps: the Park Board will be asked to approve Martyr’s Park location for this memorial at the October 24, 2019, meeting.

- Budget guidance of $100,000 (plus 20% for administrative costs per the Public Art Policy) was discussed by City Council but ultimately deferred. This will require final approval in 2020.
Update on the Working Group – Memorial to Victims of Racial Violence

Key considerations:

- Park named to honor victims of racial violence from 1860 lynching of three African-Americans
- Based on in-depth research of the site, this was supported by Remembering Black Dallas
- Close proximity (5 min walk) to Dealy Plaza and Sixth Floor Museum and the new Holocaust Museum
- Visible from major roadway
