

Cleveland High School for Digital Arts

A partnership with the Center for Arts-Inspired Learning

WHAT: Cleveland High School for Digital Arts, a partnership with the Center for Arts-Inspired Learning, integrates the digital arts into a college-preparatory curriculum. Students explore the digital arts and use these art forms to demonstrate their knowledge of core subjects, helping to prepare them for success in the 21st century college environment and global workplace.

At Cleveland High School for Digital Arts, students:

- Fulfill high school requirements and learn how to design video games, record their own music, and write short films
- Attend a groundbreaking school that expects 100% graduation rate and at least 1 college acceptance for each student

- Participate in competitive internships with Cleveland's tech and digital experts during the extended school day
- Receive their own laptop and internet at their homes to bring core subjects to life

WHERE: 1440 Lakeside Ave, Cleveland, OH 44114

WHEN: Doors open August, 2014.

- 9 AM- 5:30 PM
- Year-Round (4, 10-week sessions with 3-week breaks)

WHO: In August 2014, the Cleveland High School for Digital Arts will enroll 110 9th grade students. It is a non-audition, non-portfolio school. Cleveland 8th grade students, as well as 8th graders outside of the Cleveland area, are encouraged to enroll.
