

Ruth Sharp Altshuler Tocqueville Society

The Ruth Sharp Altshuler Tocqueville Society recognizes donors with an unsurpassed dedication to the community. Named to honor a longtime Dallas philanthropist, the late Ruth Sharp Altshuler, the Tocqueville Society is composed of civic and business leaders whose vision for North Texas is matched only by their generosity. More than 950 Tocqueville Society members contribute $10 million each year to fight our community's most challenging social problems. Individual members contribute at least $10,000 in a fiscal year* to United Way. Tocqueville Society members unite together to create a better and brighter future for North Texas.

Tocqueville Society members enjoy:

- Invitations to unique lectures and special events, including the Second Tuesday luncheon series, Eggs & Issues, and an annual appreciation event.
- Educational and networking opportunities with like-minded philanthropists.
- Organized volunteer events throughout the year.
- Opportunities to advocate on behalf of the community with elected officials in Dallas and Austin.
- Frequent updates and communications from United Way, including the Unite newsletter, featuring highlights from United Way's impact work and donor events.
- Recognition in the annual Leaders in Giving and other United Way publications.
- Additional opportunities within the $25,000 Aikman Staubach Circle, Women of Tocqueville and Bench & Bar.

$25,000 Circle

Recognizes donors who make a commitment to their community through a gift of $25,000 or more in a fiscal year to United Way.

Women of Tocqueville

This dynamic group of leaders from all sectors creates positive, long-term change in our community.

Bench & Bar

Members are part of the North Texas legal community who bring together their collective leadership to give back to the community where they live and work.
