

General questions

1. What problems can you identify in this story? Are solutions presented?
2. In what way might this story be relevant in your community?

Further exploration

1. Despite the conditions, many workers are forced to work in the cane fields because there are no other job options. How does that impact the power dynamics between employees and employers?
2. How could employers be incentivized to provide shade, water and regular breaks for their easily replaceable employees?
3. Ramon Aguilar says “Here in El Salvador, many people don’t want to recognize this disease and that an epidemic exists.” Why do you think that is?