

General questions

1. What problems can you identify in this story? Are solutions presented?
2. In what way might this story be relevant in your community?

Further exploration

1. Rwanda is a small country still recovering from a genocide, but they have become leaders in technology. What do you think about relying so heavily on private companies, like Zipline, to rebuild and reform the health care industry?
2. Are there any ethical issues this story might not have touched on?
3. Since the story aired, Zipline drones have also been used to assist in rapid COVID-19 test results. What else could this technology be used for?
4. Do you think this model could disrupt health care in wealthy countries? Why or why not?