

General questions

1. What problems can you identify in this story? Are solutions presented?
2. In what way might this story be relevant in your community?

Further exploration

1. Meatpackers were in one of the priority groups for vaccinations, but other groups, such as teachers, were placed ahead of them. Looking back, what were the priorities in vaccine allocation? Would you have prioritized things differently? Why or why not?
2. Much of Velasco's work was going door-to-door to talk about public health and vaccination. Why do you think she used this time-consuming approach? Do you think it is effective? Should it be replicated elsewhere? Why or why not?
3. What lessons from this report inform future public health efforts in immigrant communities?
4. Reflect on the ethical dilemma and challenges in providing services to people who lack proper citizenship documentation.