Suggested writing prompt (250 words)

The USDA has admitted wrongdoing and after settling lawsuits began paying farmers who could prove they were discriminated against. The payouts were controversial, and many farmers like Bernard never received a payment or their land back. Is there a better way for the government to “make things right?” How so? If not, should the payments have been handled differently?